

Alabama Has The Bass

Alabama has a diversity of bass and angling opportunities. Trophy smallmouth bass can be caught in Alabama's portion of the Tennessee River adjacent to Joe Wheeler State Park. Thriving throughout Alabama, lunker largemouth bass are famous for exploding on topwater baits over weedbeds in Lake Guntersville near Guntersville State Park. Spotted bass are also found throughout Alabama. The Mobile basin, which encompasses Wind Creek State Park and most of Alabama, is home to the Alabama spotted bass, a subspecies that grows larger than the northern subspecies.

Exploding in every direction with the sights and sounds of nature, the Mobile-Tensaw Delta is the epitome of an angler's paradise.

Around each bend in the river and along every shoreline one can expect to find explosive angling action among the moss-draped oaks, cypress trees and in the secluded lily pad bays and sloughs.

Previously inaccessible to large tournaments, the two new Delta launch sites, off U.S. Hwy. 90/98, just east of Mobile, are now available for anglers to explore and experience the explosive fishing action in this 100,000 acre pristine anglers paradise.

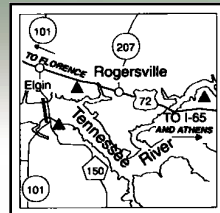

A cooperative effort of the Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, Wildlife and Freshwater Fisheries Division, the City of Mobile and Mobile County.

The site of many B.A.S.S., F.L.W. and club tournaments, Wind Creek State Park is well seasoned as a tournament host site. Located in east central Alabama on the shores of the 41,000 acre clear water Lake Martin, the park plays host to many anglers that come here to pit their fishing skills against the lake's abundant largemouth and spotted bass population.

In a team work atmosphere, the Wind Creek State Park staff and area merchants provide the following facilities & services:

- Overnight accommodations are provided by many area motels, 7-10 miles distance, that are experienced and eager to accommodate fishing tournaments.
 - 642 site full service campground
 - A full service marina complete with fuel dock
 - A combination marina/country store complete with bait, tackle, groceries, leisure items, snack foods and beverages
 - Multiple launch ramps
 - Adequate parking for vehicles and boat trailers
 - A specific site for tournament weigh-in activities & spectators
- And for those "family times" the park also has swimming areas, playgrounds, picnic areas, hiking trails and an abundance of lakefront scenery.
